

EZA education and training programme 2018

The focuses of the European Centre for Workers' Questions (EZA) 2018 education programme are the topics of "New labour relations: digitalisation and trade union strategies", "Working and living in a digitised world", "European pillar of social rights" and "Quality of work". In addition, the topic of "Strategies of European institutions" is being continued, this year concentrating on "capacity building". The special project for workers' organisations in the Western Balkans is likewise being continued.

Other topics include "Integrating migrants and refugees in the labour market", "Youth employment and inclusive labour markets" and "Health and safety at work: healthy workplaces".

Detailed information about individual seminars, contact partners and the registration modalities can be found in the programme.
