

SOLIDARITY STATEMENT – Nurses will march through the streets of Budapest on 12th May 2015

Health care provision in Hungary has reached an alarming state.

If the Government fails to take appropriate action, safe patient care cannot be secured any longer. The Independent Trade Union of Health Workers (FESZ) will draw the attention of society and all stakeholders to this, next Tuesday 12th May, at the International Nurses Day, with a protest march through the streets of Budapest. Following the protest march, a petition will be handed over at the National Parliament as well as the State Secretariat for Health.

EUROFEDOP expresses its solidarity with health care workers in Hungary and appeals to the responsible authorities for taking the necessary measures required to assure the quality of health care in Hungary.
