

Workers Councils launch project “Complex development of occupational safety and health” with EU support

The objective of the project is to enhance occupational safety and health, to provide targeted information to and to raise awareness among employees and workers and to improve working conditions in the IT, communication, financial, insurance, real estate, scientific and technological branches.

Although many people associate work with display-screen equipment only with PC monitors, work where processes are continuously or regularly reviewed and controlled through monitors is also qualified as work with display screen equipment. Our trade union pays particular attention to countering the negative impacts of digital revolution on workers.
